Records Broken In Traffic Deaths

By United Press International

The nation's motorists started the new year in an old way. They broke another holiday traffic death record.

Records were set last year on every major holiday, with the more than 720 deaths during Christmas surpassing any previous holiday traffic death count.

Drivers started 1966 on the same tragic course, breaking last year's New Year's record of 474 highway deaths.

With late reports still coming in today, a United Press International count showed at least 552 persons were killed in traffic accidents between 5 p.m., local time Thursday and midnight Sunday.

The breakdown: Traffic 552, Fires 57, Planes 12, Miscellaneous 56, Total 677.

Ohio led the rush to a record with 46 traffic deaths. California was close behind with 45. New York had 44, Michigan 30 and Illinois 23.

Alaska, Idaho, Nevada, Rhode Island and South Dakota escaped the holiday without a single recorded highway fatality.

"It's clear the nation can't depend on more horror to terrify drivers into safe highway behavior," a spokesman for the National Safety Council said.

"Can anyone doubt that with cars at their present level of development and maintenance roads at the present level of engineering and drivers at their present level of skill, that our transportation system is no longer adequate to the demands that we place on it?" the spokesman said.

Before the holiday began, the council predicted the traffic death toll would fall between 360 and 440. It said disabling injuries from holiday traffic accidents would number between 17,000 and 21,000.

MICHIGAN HIGH
By United Press International
Michigan motorists brought in the New Year with 30 fatalities during the 78-hour weekend period including one collision which killed four teen-agers from Detroit and another which took two lives.

The total put Michigan in fourth place among states in the nation. Ohio led with 43 deaths. California had 45, New York 40 and then Michigan with 30. This weekend's toll surpassed by nine last year's New Year's holiday weekend count.

The four youths, all high school students from Detroit, were returning home from a card-playing party at a cottage Friday in two cars. The lead car swerved off the road, veered back onto the highway near Brighton, overturned and was struck by the second auto.

Killed were Charles Adams, John Economos, Jeff Morrison and Donald Plattner, all 17. Two other youths in the second car were injured.

Political Crisis Faced In Italy
ROME (UPI) — Italy today entered a week of intensive political maneuvering which may decide whether the center-left government of Premier Aldo Moro will stand or fall.

If it does fall, it could be over Viet Nam, or over domestic reforms, or over changes that Moro's perennial friend and rival, ex-Foreign Minister Amintore Fanfani, is developing into an "Italian De Gaulle."

Although all three issues are considered serious, observers give the diplomatic Moro at least a 50-50 chance of averting a crisis.

The first test comes when parliamentary officials decide if a meeting of the chamber's Foreign Affairs Committee, scheduled for Wednesday, will be held.

Bus And Subway Walkouts Bring Chaos To New York

Peace Must Come In 1966, U.S. Warning

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States has warned Allied, neutral and Communist governments that peace must be achieved in Viet Nam or 1966 may bring a deepening war which would increasingly affect them all.

While underlining this urgency, the Johnson administration continued its far-flung peace initiative and suspension of the bombing of North Viet Nam for a ninth day.

Officials made clear they were in no hurry to resume the bombing, although the pause could not last indefinitely without some reply.

This reply could be public or private. It could be an expression of willingness by Hanoi to negotiate. It could be some step by Hanoi to de-escalate the war, such as a reduction of infiltration.

But so far it did not appear to have come in any form.

Washington officials, meanwhile, were privately saying that foreign governments of all shades should realize Viet Nam will be an increasing problem for all of them in 1966 if peace does not come.

This was also an essential part of the peace argument which President Johnson's top Arthur J. Goldberg and McGeorge Bundy have carried to the governments of Poland, Yugoslavia, Britain, Canada, France, the Vatican and NATO in Paris.

Administration officials here, however, said they were not in a hurry to resume the bombing, although the pause could not last indefinitely without some reply.

Union And City Millions Apart On Wage Offer

NEW YORK (UPI) — The first strike in history to stall this city's 1,000-mile subway-bus transit system delivered its full impact today. Thousands of workers apparently heeded official advice to stay at home and a major traffic crisis was averted.

Before he took off on a helicopter survey of the city's congested expressways and streets, Mayor John V. Lindsay was advised by his traffic and police commissioners that the city had weathered the inbound commuter crush "in very good shape."

Lindsay withheld a final decision on imposing strict traffic control sanctions but officials were amazed at the swiftness with which early traffic congestion was cleared. Unstruck commuter railroads also handled heavier than normal loads with no serious delays reported.

Despite the less than expected hardship on the first business day of the strike, negotiators in the three day walkout were reported making little progress in marathon bargaining.

Better Than Expected
Traffic Commissioner Henry A. Barnes said the city weathered the inbound crush on its roadway, bridge and tunnel system "much better than contemplated." But, he warned, this does not mean the crisis is over.

"We don't know what will happen later today or tomorrow," he said.

Lindsay, who walked four miles to City Hall before sunup to take command of the first crisis of his new administration, had repeatedly urged non-essential workers to stay at home. Even as the inbound rush mounted today, he repeated the plea and asked those already en route to "turn your car around ..."

His pleas apparently were taken far more seriously than city officials had dared to hope.

But even with the first crisis past, the city was far from settling the unprecedented strike of 36,000 transit workers which:

—Forced three million plus riders to seek makeshift means of reaching their jobs—or to take day off.

Even after Michael J. Quill, the flamboyant, Irish-immigrant president of the Transit Workers Union, cut his original $680 million demand by 80 percent, the negotiators were reported still talking but making no progress.

Court Order Defied
Quill, 60, who once worked as a pick and shovel laborer in the subway system, ordered the strike at 5 a.m. Saturday in defiance of a court order and said he was prepared to "rot in jail" if he were arrested. The strike-banning injunction was issued last Thursday at the behest of the transit authority.

The TWU chief was due in court at 2 p.m. EST today to explain why he should not be fined or imprisoned for ignoring the edict. He tore up the court papers in front of a television camera.

The mayor also made televised appeals Saturday and Sunday, asking that people not come into the city.

He said only one quarter of the 3.3 million persons who normally work on Manhattan Island could possibly reach their jobs by car, taxi or on foot.

But Quill countered Lindsay's appeal, calling on the public to drive into the business districts. "Working people can't afford to stay home," he said.

Bleak Sunday
Even Sunday, a bleak and rainy day, brought heavy traffic to the bridges and tunnels which must be crossed to reach Manhattan.

With the walkout in its third day, there were these developments:

—Public and parochial schools, normally attended by more than 1.5 million children, were closed for the day. Private schools and colleges were asked to close.

—Losses to stores, just starting their January sales, were estimated at $10 million per day.

—Police were ordered on 12-hour workdays. Officials feared a "fire catastrophe" if a major blaze broke out and heavy traffic prevented firemen from reaching it.

—Quill was the target of widespread public criticism, especially for calling Lindsay a "pipsqueak."

—But Quill blamed the walkout on a feud between New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Lindsay. "Rockefeller and Lindsay are in a death struggle for the White House," he said on television, and so the governor refused to give the city the money it needs to grant his demands.

Steel Prices New Washington Worry

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Johnson administration's drive to force a rollback of Bethlehem Steel Corp.'s price hike hinged today on what the nation's other big steel companies decide to do.

Administration officials, while hinting at possible government retaliation against Bethlehem, were hoping that no other company would follow Bethlehem's lead in raising prices on structural shapes and piling steel by $5 a ton.

Bethlehem's unexpected action, announced last Friday, stunned administration economists who labeled it "unwarranted" and possibly inflationary.

President Johnson personally entered the fray, issuing a statement from his Texas ranch Saturday asking that Bethlehem reconsider its action in light of "the impact of unnecessary price gain against the sacrifices of our men in Viet Nam."

There was no advance hint during the holiday weekend what the other big steel companies — U. S. Steel, Kaiser, Armco, Jones & Laughlin, States.

Head Of NAACP Retired At 87
NEW YORK (UPI) — Arthur B. Springarn, president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), will retire after 25 years as head of the civil rights organization.

Springarn, 87, announced his retirement Sunday at an annual NAACP fellowship dinner at the Hilton Hotel. He had succeeded his brother, the late Col. J. F. Springarn, as NAACP president in 1940.

The two leaders were invited to Tashkent to discuss their differences by Kossygin, who has assumed a precedent-setting role of a "peacemaker" between two non-Communist countries.

On Sunday, elements of the U. S. 173rd Airborne Brigade dropped by helicopter under heavy fire into landing zones softened by air strikes and artillery.

During the fighting, U. S. helicopters sprayed Viet Cong concentrations with non-lethal tear gas. This accounted for a large part of the hundreds of suspects rounded up during Sunday's drive.

An allied strike force continued to hammer at two battalions of enemy troops near the Cambodian border. Over-all Communist losses in the fighting 35 miles west of Saigon were placed at 229 dead since the government troops launched the offensive on New Year's Eve. They were joined later by Australian and New Zealand units.

At least 160 Viet Cong were claimed killed in joint Vietnamese-South Korean operations which began Saturday 225 miles northeast of Saigon.

Plaintiff Wins
TRUTH OR CONSEQUENCES, N. M. (UPI) — Tired of hearing the defendant and plaintiff argue, Justice of the Peace Roy B. Maddux ordered them to put on 16-ounce gloves and have it out.

Judgment Sunday in the $27 small claims suit went to the plaintiff on the third knock-down.

British Blackout
GATESHEAD, Eng. (UPI) — About 25,000 homes in this northeast England area were hit by an 81-minute power failure Sunday when the tower of a glider fell across the high tension power cables. The glider was undamaged in the incident, an Electricity Board spokesman said.

and more dangerous conflict could result in Viet Nam should the Communists reject the overture.

As for the price hikes announced by Bethlehem Steel Corp. last Friday, the President and his top economic advisers felt the increases posed a danger of inflation that could not be ignored. They were said to be hoping that other top U.S. steel companies would not follow Bethlehem's lead.

Sunday they were taking a look at the government's use of structural steel in case Bethlehem does not rescind its price increase. At present, the government buys about 25 percent of the industry's output annually.

In a statement issued in New York, however, Bethlehem said it intended to go ahead with the increase. The company, countering administration charges, said the boost "is not inflationary."

If the demand for the steel were eased, it might tend to keep prices low. The administration won a rollback in proposed aluminum price hikes recently by easing the demand for the metal—principally by Inland and National—would do. But if they follow Bethlehem's lead the chances of a rollback would be much reduced.

However, volunteers braved the flames to rescue icons, marriage crowns and paintings valued at $1.5 million from the church.

The oil-rich Moquawick Indian tribe, whose reservation is 50 miles south of Anchorage, offered funds for the immediate rebuilding of St. Michael's.

Gov. William Egan, who flew here Sunday morning, asked President Johnson to declare the town a disaster area so federal loans for rebuilding could be obtained.

Civil Defense Director Walter Dangel said no deaths or injuries occurred.

Supply Of Rice Short; Cubans To Use Substitutes
MIAMI (UPI) — Cubans were on bleak notice from Premier Fidel Castro today that rice is going to be in short supply this year and they had better start looking for "substitutes."

The Cuban leader dished out the bad news in a speech Sunday marking his seventh anniversary in power. He put the blame, generally, on Red China, which is cutting back 1966 rice shipments because of "a trade misunderstanding."

Cuba is dependent on China for its rice, the island's basic food staple.

Cuba depends on Russia, however, for its modern arms and Castro said the picture there was different. "We now have much more arms," he said. "We have increased the volume of our military equipment."

Pistol Roulette Shot Kills Man At Grand Rapids
GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — Edward Mienko, 45, died in St. Mary's Hospital Sunday of a head wound he received while playing "Russian roulette."

According to police, his wife, Irene, said Mienko had been drinking, got the pistol, put one cartridge in it, spun the cylinder and pulled the trigger twice. The second time the gun fired.

She said he had not been ill or despondent, just drinking. The shooting occurred at the Mienko home Saturday.

Flames Ravage Sitka, Alaska

SITKA, Alaska (UPI) — The job of rebuilding the main business district—including replacement of a 121 year old Russian Orthodox Cathedral—faced this town's citizens today following a fire which caused $2.3 million damage.

Flames fanned by 40 mph winds Sunday gutted both sides of the main street, including historic St. Michael's Church built 20 years before Russia sold Alaska to the United States.

However, volunteers braved the flames to rescue icons, marriage crowns and paintings valued at $1.5 million from the church.

The oil-rich Moquawick Indian tribe, whose reservation is 50 miles south of Anchorage, offered funds for the immediate rebuilding of St. Michael's.

President's Problems Are Holdovers From 1965

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson was back at his White House desk today for the first time in 1966, but the problems he faced—from Viet Nam to steel prices—were an all too familiar holdover from 1965.

No formal schedule of appointments was announced in advance, but he was certain to keep in close touch with the progress of his worldwide peace offensive as well as with the latest developments in what could be another government-big steel showdown.

In capitals around the world U.S. emissaries were carrying a Peace-in-Viet-Nam message to world leaders. But they were also warning that a bloodier and more dangerous conflict could result in Viet Nam should the Communists reject the overture.

As for the price hikes announced by Bethlehem Steel Corp. last Friday, the President and his top economic advisers felt the increases posed a danger of inflation that could not be ignored. They were said to be hoping that other top U.S. steel companies would not follow Bethlehem's lead.

Johnson has been successful so far in keeping basic industries from hiking prices that would saddle the nation's booming economies with an inflationary spiral. He hoped to score again in the present controversy, and without the public battle that marked the late President John F. Kennedy's showdown with big steel in 1962.

In addition, the President was expected to launch a round of intensive conference with his top aides and cabinet officers on his budget for fiscal 1967—due to be sent to Congress by the end of this month.

Escanaba 2nd In Ore Tonnage

Escanaba, the only iron port on Lake Michigan, is maintaining its rivalry with Marquette in the shipment of iron ore from the Lake Superior region, the American Iron Ore Association year-end statistics reveal.

Marquette, with two docks, loaded out a total of 6,312,177 tons of ore in 1965. The Marquette docks are operated by the Lake Superior and Ishpeming and the Soo Line railroads.

The 1965 ore tonnage total at Escanaba was 6,064,785. This was moved out by the Chicago & North Western Railway.

Marquette's shipments for the year exceeded Escanaba by only 247,392 tons, although Marquette is near the mining and ore processing centers. Both ports have shown an increase in the amount of pellet ore being received from beneficiation plants.

Escanaba's pellet ore comes from both the Marquette and Menominee iron ranges, and natural ore from those and the Gogebic range, however, and this will mean about one million tons less for Escanaba this year.

The total U.S. lake shipments of iron ore was 62,564,516 tons last year. More than one-half of this total was shipped from Duluth-Superior. Silver Bay's tonnage was 9,966,088 and Taconite Harbor 7,884,919.

Leland Hooker Announces For Congress In 11th

Leland W. Hooker of Houghton has announced his candidacy for the office of United States representative from the 11th Congressional District on the Republican ticket.

For the past 18 years Hooker has been on the staff of the Institute of Wood Research at Michigan Technological University, Houghton, where he has been in charge of research in timber harvesting and primary processing. He is a 1940 graduate of the Yale School of Forestry with the degree of Master of Forestry.

Hooker has been active in state and local civic and political affairs for years. In 1963 Governor Romney appointed him to the Michigan Conservation Commission. In this assignment he has made significant contributions to the reorganization of the Department of Conservation, and the role of that department in the reorganization of state government under the new constitution.

Hooker has resigned from the conservation commission to devote his time to the congressional campaign. In accepting the resignation, Governor Romney expressed appreciation for Hooker's service to Michigan.

During World War II Hooker served as a combat intelligence officer with the Western Defense Command and with headquarters supreme commander for the Allied Powers, Pacific Theater. He has been in the Active Reserve for over 27 years, and holds the rank of colonel in the Corps of Engineers, U.S. Army Reserve.

Leland W. Hooker

The Hookers have three children; Nancy, who is married to John S. Nelson of Marquette; Charles, who is in the U.S. Navy and is attending the anti-submarine warfare school at San Diego; and Susan, who is a student in Houghton High School.

He was active in business until his death. Surviving are his wife Bernice, one brother, Robert Beath of Chicago, and his aunt, Mrs. Nancy B. Thomas of Escanaba.

Funeral services were held in Chicago today.

Social Security Cost Up Jan. 1

The social security contribution deducted from workers' pay beginning in 1966 will be slightly higher than the contribution rate that had been scheduled to go into effect Jan. 1, Arnold T. Williams, social security district manager in Escanaba announced today.

The social security contribution rate for employees and employers had been scheduled to rise from 3 1/2 per cent, in effect 1963 through 1965, to 4 1/4 per cent beginning Jan. 1, 1966.

To help finance changes in the law, enacted last summer — including a program of hospital insurance for people 65 and over, a 7 per cent increase in cash benefits, and other important improvements in the social security program, the contribution rate has been raised to 4.2 per cent for 1966, instead of the previously scheduled 4 1/4 per cent.

Of the 4.2 per cent contribution rate, 0.35 per cent (35 cents out of each $100 of taxable wages) goes to finance hospital insurance benefits.

In addition, the amount of annual earnings subject to the tax contribution and creditable toward social security benefits is raised from $4,800 to $6,000.

The law provides a series of gradual additional increases in the contribution rates until in 1987, when the employer and employee rates will be 5.65 per cent, and the self-employed rate will be 7.8 per cent.

Under medicare, when the worker is 65, he and his wife will have paid-up hospital insurance to help pay costs of hospital and related care, Williams added. A separate medical insurance program is also available under the medicare law to people 65 and over who choose to take it for a premium of $3 a month. The Government pays an equal amount.

Ten Persons Die In '65 Accidents

Delta County entered its fifth month without a fatal traffic accident today on treacherous highways.

State Police reported all roads in the area snow covered and slippery after the winter's first major snowstorm Sunday. Though motorists were forced to drive on the shoulders and some wound up in snowbanks, no serious accidents were reported on state and county highways.

Delta County has not had a fatal accident since Aug. 15, when Sandy T. Sutter, 21, of 1021 Dakota Ave., Gladstone, died of injuries suffered in a one-car accident on U.S. 2 and 41 just south of Gladstone.

Ten Persons Killed

Sutter was the 10th victim in what had started out as a record setting year of highway tragedy. Only eight persons had died as a result of automobile accidents in all of 1964.

Eighteen persons died on Delta County highways in 1963, highest ever.

State Police and Sheriff's officers urged motorists to drive carefully today because of the slippery roads. Hazardous conditions prevailed today throughout the Upper Peninsula.

Jerry Giles, Lansing, safety director of the Michigan Trucking Association, points out that single-vehicle accidents are increasing.

"When a driver is involved in an accident all by himself, chances are that the accident was caused by some driving error on his part," Giles said. "Only rarely is some condition of the road or weather a primary contributing factor."

In Delta County, four of eight persons killed as result of injuries from automobile crashes last year were involved in one-car accidents. Two others killed in Delta County were run over by cars.

Accident Factors Cited

Giles said that 14 per cent of all reportable accidents in Michigan in 1964 were one-car accidents and that they accounted for 33 per cent of all

Marinette Park Gets 3rd Plant

Milwaukee Glove Co. will occupy a new plant in Marinette's six-year-old industrial park, it was announced Thursday, the third industry the Marinette Area Industrial Corp. has attracted to the park.

Robert Lauer, president, said the plant would manufacture Lauer gloves and workmen's gloves in a 12,000 square foot plant designed by Menominee Architect Harry Gjelsteen. The plant will be financed by an Industrial Corp. stock sale and by the three Marinette banks.

The glove firm was not interested in the plant of the Eisendrath Co. which is closing operations and offering its plant for sale. It is Milwaukee Glove's third plant. It has had one in Milwaukee since 1908 and one in Berlin, Wis., since 1960.

Plan Airport Advisory Body

Consideration of the city's undertaking of airport improvements will be one of the major items of business scheduled for the Escanaba City Council when it meets at the City Hall at 8 p. m. Thursday, Jan. 6.

The Council in this connection will consider authorization to provide engineering service for the airport project, and appointment of an Airport Advisory Committee.

Related to the airport subject will be the Council's consideration of an application of Snowden, Inc. for an air taxi commercial operator's permit to operate from the airport.

Other Council business will include: Consideration of an extension of the date for the payment of taxes without penalty from Jan. 10 to Feb. 15, an annual action.

Appointment of two members to the City Board of Censors; and a request of Phil and Lee's Mobile Homes to undertake a mobile home subdivision are also on the agenda.

An ordinance to regulate the subdivision of acreage areas will receive second reading and adoption, as will an ordinance to limit and control the placing of snow in city streets.

The appointment of a charter study committee; and the continued evaluation of boards and commissions is also scheduled.

Live Traps Lost In City

A number of live traps are still "alive" in Escanaba.

Conservation officer Frank Opolka appealed to residents to whom the department loaned traps during the summer to help remedy a problem with skunks to please return them.

Opolka said the department will pick them up, or persons who have them can drop them off at department headquarters.

The traps were "lost" when neighbors passed them from house to house without informing the department.

Only Tin Cans

SPRINGFIELD, England (UPI) — Bomb disposal men spent most of Sunday probing an eight-foot-deep hole with a suspicious looking "metallic object" at the bottom. The cause of the alarm turned out to be two empty tin cans.

Never Too Late

BRAMSHOTT, England (UPI) — Newlyweds Sam Burrows and Gertrude Taplin plan to emigrate to New Zealand. Burrows is 74 and his bride is 71. They were married during the weekend.

Lighting Contest Winners Listed

In the Jaycee Christmas outdoor decoration contest, Stanley Carlyn's carollers with musical accompaniment won first place.

Santa Claus with his elves at the Robert Webber residence captured second place and the decorated home of J. Earl Cousineau, third.

Honorable mention went to Lars Olson, Matthew Strum, Geraldine Beaudre, Napoleon L. Vake, Robert Ebl, Nelbert Gerber, Dean Deloria and Mrs. Dorothy Shipman.

Judges were Charles Varum, Lloyd Gray and Carl Graves. Theme, originality of design, suitability of the display to the home, lighting, and overall impression were weighed in judging.

The Jaycees congratulated residents on their expression of the Christmas spirit by making the many attractive displays.

ROCKET LAUNCHER—It's only a 20-pound handful, but it fires 5mm, rocket-propelled projectiles and may in the future pack a lot more punch into the foot soldier's battlefield gear. An engineer at the AVCO Corp. Ordnance Division, where the new weapon was developed, holds the compact launcher at ready position. Low launching pressure at initial firing of rocket motor eliminates recoil.

John Wernham Of Ottawa Forest Goes To Duluth

Michael W. Kageorge has been named forest supervisor of the Ottawa National Forest at Ironwood, succeeding John O. Wernham, who has been promoted to forest supervisor of the Superior National Forest at Duluth.

Kageorge from March, 1961 until February, 1964, was assistant forest supervisor to Wernham.

Kageorge is a native of Akron, O. He served in the U.S. Navy from August of 1944 to July of 1946. He attended Akron University and the University of California in Berkeley. In 1950 he completed college work at Iowa State in Ames, with a B.S. degree in forestry.

Wernham had been forest supervisor of the Ottawa since 1958. During his career in the Forest Service he has held a number of important positions. A native of Illinois, he attended the university of that state, and holds a degree in forestry from the University of Michigan.

Wernham began his professional career with the Forest Service on the Wenatchee National Forest in Washington. While still a young forester, he was assigned to the Superior National Forest, then moved on to increasingly important positions on the Shawnee, Ottawa, and Lower Michigan National Forests. In 1953 he was again assigned to the Superior as assistant forest supervisor. Then in 1956 he was transferred to the Washington Office of the Forest Service, where he served until his assignment to the Ottawa in 1958.

Peace In Viet Nam

The holidays brought an American peace drive on Viet Nam. Bombing of North Viet Nam, from which the Communist forces infiltrate South Viet Nam, has been suspended for more than a week.

While the United States was giving the Reds this breather on the battlefield, it was waging peace on the diplomatic front, trying for a contact that would bring the Communists to the bargaining table for peace talks.

U.S. Ambassador-at-Large Averill Harriman conferred with the Polish foreign minister in Warsaw, which is an international listening post and our chief source of contact with Red China, which has an embassy there. United Nations Ambassador Arthur Goldberg conferred with Pope Paul VI in Rome, and with French President Charles DeGaulle and NATO officials in Paris.

The Vatican has been trying for a cease fire and peace in Viet Nam, working through church and diplomatic circles, and DeGaulle is one of the critics of our intervention in South Viet Nam, which, without the aid of America and its few allies there, would be overrun by the Communist North Viet Nam forces.

The United States inched into its commitment to help the Saigon government survive Red conquest, sending first a force of military advisers to the South Viet Nam military forces. With the war being lost, President Johnson sent in our own troops and we've been building up our forces there steadily and losing increasing numbers of men because of our active involvement in the fighting.

DeGaulle, heading the nation that is one of America's strongest allies would find it difficult to be friendly toward the American intervention in Viet Nam. It is part of the old French Indo China which France lost to nationalism and to the Communists after World War II in a long and costly war. To have the United States succeed there—even with altruistic intervention as contrasted with France's colonialism—would be an affront to DeGaulle and his supernationalism. He has tried, with no notable success, to play footie with the Communists at Moscow and even Peking.

His aid to an American peace effort in Viet Nam might be suspected of willingness to let the Reds take over there, but he is a realist as well as a nationalist and the war in Viet Nam is a very serious conflict that could trigger a world war and destroy France.

In our peace offensive our ambassador to Russia saw the Soviet president and in the Orient Vice President Humphrey talked with Japan's leaders. We are exploring every avenue that might lead to negotiation to end the fighting and would at this point probably accept a peace that would not have been acceptable earlier.

We are caught in a dilemma. We are fighting in a cause which we regard as noble—the cause of freedom: the right of peoples to self-determination of national status—but our commitment has led us into a slough of trouble. We could fight for years in Viet Nam, sacrificing thousands of Americans and billions of dollars without resolving the issue—can South Viet Nam be free, or must it accept Red rule?—if Red China decides that she will profit by engaging the United States in a land war in Asia.

Our military leaders have warned us against such involvement for decades but we're in it up to our knees now and with the prospect that we may be in it up to our necks. The draft card burners are kookie, the nut fringe on any armed conflict, but some of our serious statesmen are questioning our involvement in Viet Nam. If it is impossible to make peace now, with an earnest effort, as we did in Korea (after so many tries) it will show us the size of the China problem as Peking moves to take over the leadership of international communism from Russia.

Hanoi is a pawn. It would probably make peace now if it could, but it couldn't make war on South Viet Nam without China's aid and it can't make peace without her permission. China might prolong the war in South Viet Nam to build up our forces there for a big effort to smash us, but the threat of atomic warfare is a deterrent. America must hope that it is a big enough deterrent.

The Doctor Says:

Child's Heart In Danger

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt

Rheumatic fever may affect the joints, blood vessels, skin or brain but the chief danger is rheumatic heart disease. Unlike such infectious diseases, commonly seen in children, as chickenpox, mumps and measles, one attack of rheumatic fever does not confer a lasting immunity. The immediate cause of rheumatic fever is unknown but it almost always follows a streptococcal sore throat, tonsillitis or scarlet fever.

Rheumatic fever is not catching but the streptococcal infection that precedes it is. Every sore throat in a child should be seen by your doctor, who will take a throat swab for culture. Although rheumatic fever may occur in adults it usually has its onset between the ages of 5 and 15 and the initial attack may last weeks or even months.

The diagnosis is often difficult because the disease has no symptoms of its own and the symptoms will vary depending on which tissues are involved. Usually there is a fever of 101 or 102. If the joints are affected the joint pains may be mild, but it is a grave error to attribute them to growing pains—a term that we now know has no real meaning. It is a mistake, too, to try to decide for yourself whether your child has rheumatic fever. Even your doctor can rarely tell without laboratory tests.

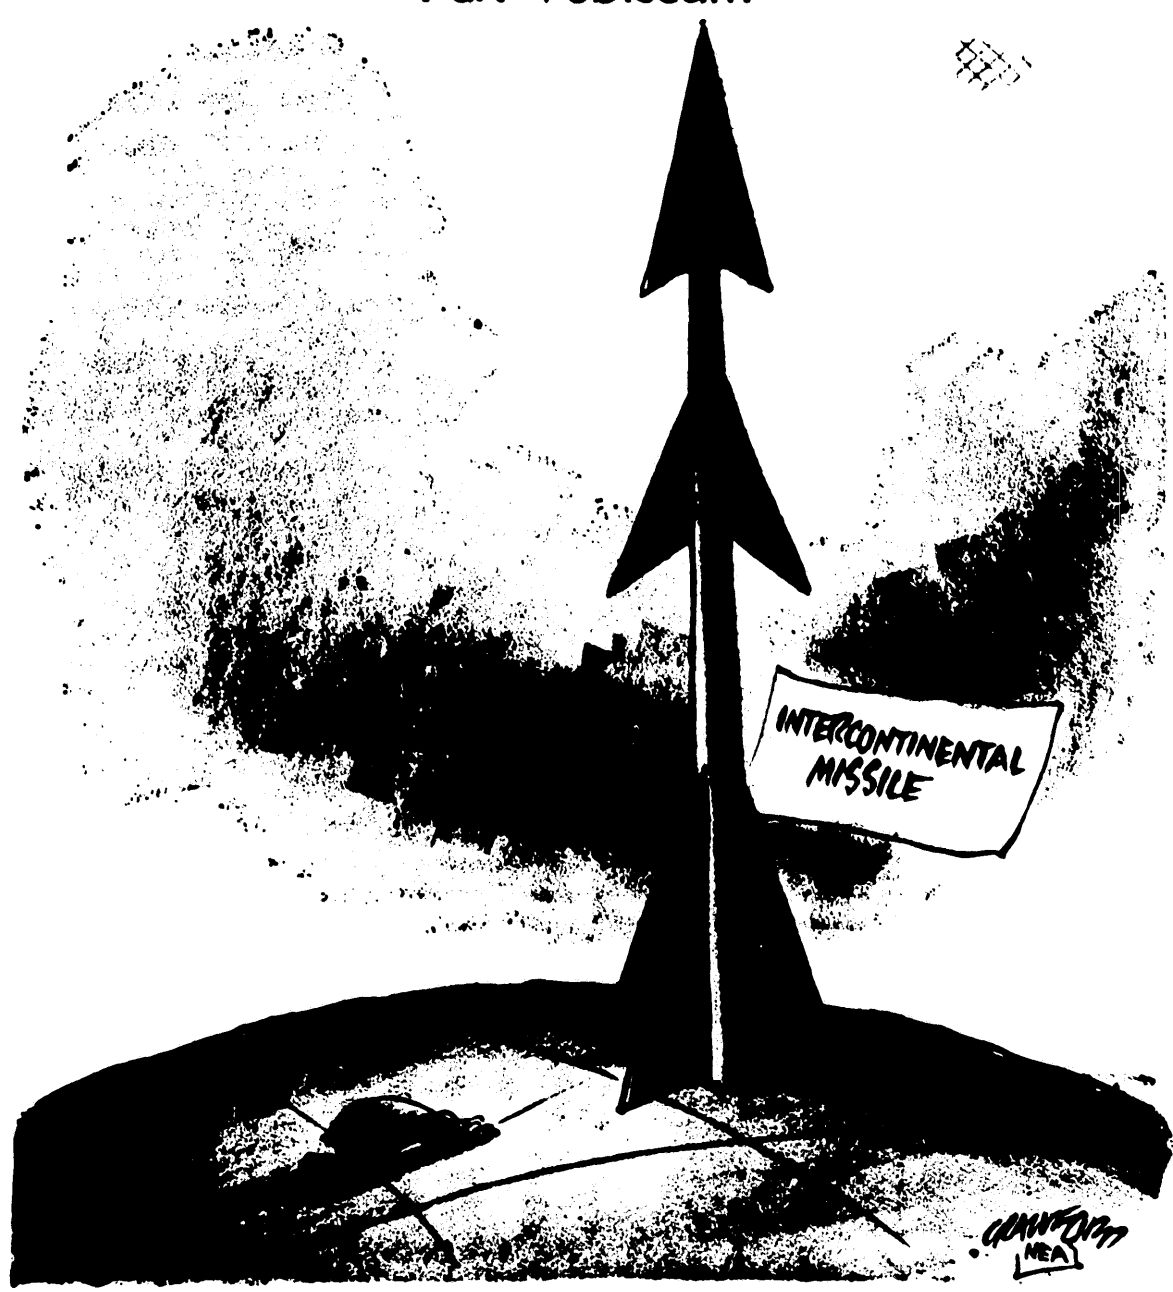

An increased sedimentation rate is an indication of active infection and is of value, not only in piecing together the evidence necessary to make the diagnosis, but also in determining whether a subsiding infection is completely cured. Once the diagnosis is made bed rest is essential to protect the heart. In addition, a variety of drugs may be given. These include aspirin, phenylbutazone, cortisone, sulfonamides and penicillin. The latter is especially valuable in the prevention of subsequent attacks.

Although recent studies indicate that the child who comes through an initial attack of rheumatic fever without any heart involvement is unlikely to get such an involvement in a subsequent attack, he should be protected against recurrences with long-acting penicillin. If, on the other hand, there has been some damage to the heart such protection is doubly important and the child should have a periodic physical checkup by your doctor.

Four New Developments Spark Educational Year

By DAVE ANDREWS

An era of educational change may have begun in 1965 in Delta County. Certainly, educators have made significant steps in that direction.

Aside from the effects of improved state aid, federal aid programs and greater cooperation between residents and school administrations, there were at least four major developments:

1. A plan for realignment of existing school districts was approved and sent to state officials by the reorganization committee of the Delta-Schoolcraft Intermediate School District.

2. Enrollment at Bay de Noc Community College continued to rise and the college moved to meet demands by expanding its curriculum.

3. The Escanaba Area Public Schools operated under a "normal" financial situation after a year of crisis.

4. Gladstone residents approved a new physical education building in a $300,000 bond issue vote.

The reorganization plan recommended by the Delta-Schoolcraft Reorganization Committee provides for four school districts in the two-county area. They are:

1. Escanaba Area and Bark River-Harris; 2. Gladstone, Flat Rock, Brampton, Baldwin, Rock and Rapid River; 3. Nahma, Garden, Fairbanks and Cooks; 4. Manistee and all Schoolcraft County districts except Seney.

Should state approval be given, electors of each proposed district would decide at regular school elections in June whether to accept or reject the proposals.

Bay College Nears 500 Enrollment

Bay de Noc Community College, which held its first graduation exercises May 30 at Karas Memorial Bandshell in Ludington Park, has jumped from 268 students to 492 in its second two-year existence. Faculty size increased from eight to 25.

President Dick Rinehart said "for the first time out students are juniors at colleges and universities. Others have been placed in jobs."

The college is growing rapidly. An expansion of the college base to include parts of Menominee, Dickinson and Schoolcraft Counties is not an impossibility.

More tax revenue may be needed to support the institution and new buildings are also in prospect in the not too distant future.

Area Educational Picture Brightens

In the Escanaba Area system, the picture brightened considerably, according to Supt. Luther M. Barrett.

"Shortly before the birth of New Year 1965 (Dec. 22, 1964), voters of the school district voted an extra 4.5 mills for school operation. Although the vote was too late to help with the serious financial situation of the 1964-65 school year, it did permit a return to more normal budgeting and more realistic planning for the 1965-66 school year," Barrett said.

Barrett also said "a new spirit of community cooperation in the area of education seemed to develop in Escanaba in 1965. Discussions have picked up between the City Council and Board of Education relative to the development of a more effective Community School program. Working relationships among the public and parochial schools and Bay de Noc Community College have become closer. There is much more joint planning for the meeting of educational needs of the entire area.

"In summary, 1965 brought a new high in the level of community interest in education," Barrett continued. "Educational needs of the community are better understood. The interest of the community in providing for these needs is greater. The various educational agencies are working more closely together with other governmental agencies."

In the year ahead, Escanaba Area is confronted with another serious problem—elementary schools. The Board of Education has set Feb. 1 for a bond issue election on the proposed building program.

Barrett said the most important development in the field of instruction in 1965 in the Area schools has been in the area of reading. An experimental remedial program during the summer months proved successful and undoubtedly will be continued and expanded. Also, new and additional reading materials were provided throughout the grades.

Gladstone Voters Approve Gymnasium

The approval in July of a new physical education building was the most significant development in Gladstone, according to Supt. Wallace Cemerone.

"We had a real good year in 1965 and are looking ahead to a better 1966," he said. "Cooperation in the community has been wonderful."

Holy Name's new board of education, though created in 1964, moved smoothly through its first year with Francis D'Amour as president. The year 1965 was one of progress. It may have been the beginning of an era of change.

NOT OLD ENOUGH

NEW DELHI (AP)—The National Committee of Architects complained state and central government confidential records "even a century old" have not been released to the archives. It recommended all records 25 years old be released to archives "irrespective of their classification."

Accent Positive

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Barry Goldwater's Free Society Association, actively led by his friend Denison Kitchel, is struggling with an old problem—how to shake off the negative image which handicaps conservative doctrine.

The dilemma is complicated by the fact that a considerable proportion of the leaders among the Republican party's traditional conservatives view "Goldwater conservatism" as "excessively rigid and hence foreign to the political process, with its stress on compromise."

Kitchel appears to regard this view as incomprehensible. He sees "responsible conservatism" as all of a piece, and as fully understanding of the flexibility of politics.

He says the Free Society Association accepts the idea that a broad left-right political spectrum exists, and that the Republican party itself is inevitably stretched across the span of varying liberal to conservative attitudes.

What FSA is really up to, adds Kitchel, is not an attempt to make the GOP into a homogeneous "party of principle" according to Goldwaterite notions. It is, he insists, an effort to create a new "climate of thought" whose effect would be to move the whole national spectrum toward the right.

This is the reason the FSA avows nonpartisanship and declares it will have no part of active campaign politics. It asserts its function to be largely informational.

Kitchel is not the first to argue that the new Goldwater conservatism is just as flexible, just as cognizant of political realities, as the old. The conservative candidate for New York City mayor, William F. Buckley Jr., said this autumn that most of the conservative activists he dealt with were of the nonrigid type.

Yet politicians who encourage still-loyal rank and file

Goldwaterites in their daily rounds contend that rigidity of outlook continues to be their hallmark. A good many talk the language of "rule or ruin."

Admittedly, the strident voices of the radical right confuse the issue, since they invoke the name of Goldwater even more freely than do his more temperate supporters.

It is they, too, who reinforce the negative image that has dogged conservatism for so long a time.

According to Kitchel, a new idea of how to lick this problem has recently been born within the FSA fold.

Some in the organization are reasoning that "liberals dominate the national scene because they define the problems." The net of it, so it is argued, is that conservatives are forced into negative posture either by denying that certain problems exist or by suggesting answers which inescapably lack the bold force of the originally proposed "liberal solutions."

In this newly advanced view, then, the liberal establishment maintains its sway less by listening to the grievances of various groups than by telling them what they ought to want and how they can get it.

The lesson indicated by this thesis for conservative advocates is clear enough. They will begin to attract voting groups in significant, winning numbers when conservatives leap ahead and start defining the problems of the city, of labor, of the Negro and other minorities, of the tangled foreign front, before their liberal adversaries can get moving.

25 YEARS AGO

Almost everyone has a passion for collecting something. There are people who collect sea shells and recipes for horse-radish relish. But if all the collectors there are in the world were laid end to end (and one sometimes wishes they were) there would be stamp collectors at the beginning, stamp collectors in the middle and at the end, because stamp collectors outnumber other collectors by about 500 to 1. Stamp collecting has something in common with halitosis. Four out of five use them and the fifth collects them.

Ted Baldwin, an enthusiastic philatelist, who started his stamp collection in 1907, shows them to an equally enthusiastic if less experienced collector, John Rummel, his remarkably fine collection of American stamps. Baldwin specializes exclusively in unused blocks and used plate blocks, but has a considerable general collection, too.

Tiny Diamond Cherished Most

Dear Ann Landers: "I'd like to say something to the mother who told her daughter to give the engagement ring back because the diamond was so small."

A dear friend of mine married a young man who drove a delivery truck during the day and went to night school five evenings a week. Every Saturday Edie's sweetheart took her for a ride on the street car. That was their big date. When they became engaged he gave her a ring with a diamond chip in it. You could hardly call it a stone. That was 35 years ago.

Today the man is a multimillionaire. Edie could have a rock the size of an airport beacon if she wanted it. For birthdays and anniversaries her husband has given her a diamond necklace, bracelets, pins and earrings. But Edie still wears that old ring with the tiny diamond chip in it.

She says it is the only piece of jewelry she cherishes and she would never wear another in its place. What do you say about this, Ann Landers? —A. E. C.

Dear A. B. C.: Edie has class.

Dear Ann Landers: Several months ago you printed a letter from a woman in Arizona who wanted to know where she had failed in raising her children. My heart went out to her because I have asked myself the same question.

My daughter was a lovely, sensitive girl who was unable to cope with life's problems. She turned to the bottle. It was the same story you've heard hundreds of times — broken home, disturbed children, a stretch in jail and three suicide attempts.

My pocketbook was nearly empty and my heart was broken from worry and grief. Family and friends did all they could to help her make a fresh start, but it was useless. The tragic story ended when she died at the wheel of her car.

I asked myself dozens of times why I failed to raise a well-adjusted, self-sufficient daughter. And then I read your answer to the other mother and I knew it was my answer, too. "You told her, 'Stop beating yourself. If you did your best, accept the peace you have earned. Angels can do no more.'"

On that day, Ann, I found peace. I will always be thankful to you. —A CALIFORNIA MOTHER

Dear Mother: One of the real rewards of writing this column is knowing that an answer directed to one person can bring measure of comfort and strength to others. Thank you for letting me know.

Dear Ann Landers: I am 20 years old and plan to be married on St. Valentine's Day. I need help with a very important decision.

I attended the wedding of a friend last Sunday. She wore the most beautiful gown and veil I have ever seen. It must have cost a fortune. I have always wanted to be married in the traditional bridal ensemble but I could never afford a gown and veil like that.

She is just about my size, maybe a wee bit taller and slimmer, but I'm sure her gown would fit me. Do you think it would be all right if I asked her to let me wear it for my wedding? I would take very good care of it. —WANT TO BE EXQUISITE

Dear Want To Be: Your friend knows you are planning to be married and if she offers you her gown, fine, but don't put her on the spot by asking.

Most brides consider their wedding gown more important than just another costume. They hope to hand them down to their daughters. If you borrow a gown your daughter will never know this joy.

Do you feel at ease... out of it? Is everybody having a good time but you? Write for Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key To Popularity," enclosing with your request 35c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DOGGONE IT!

SEATTLE (UPI)—James R. Sloan acquired a female chow from the animal pound to serve as night watchdog at the service station Sloan manages here. Nothing was stolen during the chow's first night on duty. But during the second night, someone entered the station and took 15 gallons of anti-freeze and the dog.

Senate Control Is Great Stake In Apportionment

(See related story on this page)

Which way the ball will bounce on state apportionment, now that the State Apportionment Commission has failed to resolve the problem before a State Supreme Court deadline of New Year's Eve midnight, isn't known, said Ralph Huhtala of Iron Mountain today.

Huhtala is a Republican member of the commission and his fellow townsman, Ivan Brown of Iron Mountain, is a Democratic member.

The so-called Austin-Kleiner plan of apportionment (setting districts from which members of the legislature are elected) was sent back to the State Apportionment Commission for review after use in the 1964 elections because the court heard complaints that the plan was gerrymandered to favor the Democrats in its districts; that it created districts with unnatural shapes and abused natural boundary lines (counties, etc.) in districting.

Huhtala said "We (Republicans) did all the compromising; they (the Democrats on the commission) did none at all. They were so dedicated that there was no moving them. The final Republican offer was to leave 142 of the 148 seats in the Legislature in districts that were intact and unchanged from 1964.

"We wanted change in 6 senate districts and were willing to let the House districts stand."

The struggle between the parties which has resulted in the deadlock in the Apportionment Commission results in part from the practical political possibilities in the Legislature. The Democrats have 63 seats in the House and the Republicans 37.

There's no prospect of changing that quickly in an election.

But in the Senate the Democrats hold 23 seats and the Republicans 15 and a few seats changed there could give control to the Republicans. Republicans think that the Austin-Kleiner plan of apportionment gave the Democrats 4 of their Senate seats.

Senate Is Stake
Without the Johnson-Goldwater help to the Democrats in the 1966 election, if the Republicans could get a reapportionment of those crucial four senate seats there would result a 19-19 tie in the Senate and a Republican lieutenant governor could cast the tie-breaking vote.

The Republican commissioners proposed in a statement that a 5 per cent deviation from perfect average be allowed in apportionment of legislative districts to get better geographical districting by easing the exactitude of population division. The U.S. Supreme Court forced the national reapportionment activity by its one-man, one-vote rule that apportionment must be based on population.

The GOP plan would make a change in U.P. districting by throwing West Delta (including Escanaba), Menominee and Dickinson counties into one legislative district for the House of Representatives.

Briefly Told

The Escanaba Lions Club will meet at 8:45 p.m. today at the Sherman Hotel.

Application for a marriage license has been made at the County Clerk's office by Curtis Glen Nelson, 302 N. 19th St., and Paulette Kay Erb, Two Rivers, Wis.

Edwin Putman, Iron Mountain, Disabled American Veterans field service office, will be in Escanaba Tuesday to interview veterans from 2 to 4 p.m. at the City Hall.

Delta County Sheriff's officers are investigating a report by James Hudson, Rte. 1, Cornell, that someone shot a horse on his property Saturday night. Officers said the gunmen are believed to be conservation violators. Conservation officers were called into the case.

Escanaba police have issued traffic court summonses to J. V. Johnson, K. I. Sawyer Air Base, failing to exercise due care; John T. Strabel, 209 Ludington St., driving too fast for conditions; Edward W. Lyons, Calgary, Canada, failing to exercise due care; Richard Lee Menard, 316 N. 21st St., disobeying a traffic signal; John K. Berrigan, 1604 Washington Ave., failing to yield the right of way; Catherine R. Langrick, Nahma, speeding; Gilbert H. Bast, 1015 1st Ave. S., failing to exercise due care.

Hospital

Clyde Moersch, 323 S. 9th St., is a patient in St. Francis Hospital. His room is 106 and he is allowed visitors.

Kaven Retiring From Extension

Roland Kaven who has served as Iron County Michigan State University Extension agent since 1957, retired on Dec. 30. Kaven, who first served in Iron County as a 4-H Club agent from 1935 to 1945, made the decision to retire at this time due to a recent amendment in civil service regulations which extends annuities to those employees who retired on or before Dec. 30, 1965.

Kaven was on leave from 1951 until 1954 while working in Uttar Pradesh, India, with the state government in organizing an agricultural extension service and in training personnel.

He served as agricultural agent for Marquette County from 1945 until 1951 and filled the same post in Gogebic County from 1954 until 1957.

A native of Unionville, Mich., he was a farmer for a time in Twining in Arenac County. He graduated in 1935 from Michigan State University with a B.S. degree in agriculture. Mr. and Mrs. Kaven reside in Crystal Falls.

Dr. A. S. Mowery of Marquette, director for the Cooperative Extension Service says Frank Molinare, natural resource agent for Dickinson County will serve the Iron County Extension office in Crystal Falls until a replacement has been named for Kaven.

Dickinson County Home Economist, Mrs. Irma Johnson will serve home economics and 4-H program needs in Iron County in the continuing retraining of Extension personnel in the Upper Peninsula.

Mrs. Kaven is the former Bernice Embs of Escanaba, sister of George Embs of Escanaba and daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Embs. Her father was a postman.

Hare And Court Back In Battle On Districting

LANSING (UPI) — Secretary of State James M. Hare and the State Supreme Court were expected to step back into the spotlight this week as the next act gets under way in Michigan's apportionment drama.

Hare was scheduled to confer with staff members and possibly with representatives of the attorney general's office today before drafting a report to the court on the deadlock reached by the state apportionment commission Friday night.

After eight weeks of work, the commission failed to agree on a plan for remapping the state's 110 House and 38 Senate districts as ordered by the court last Nov. 2. They had only until Jan. 1 to do the job.

Hare, who was due back from a brief trip to California late Sunday, thus had the sticky problem dumped back into his lap.

Under the court order, Hare, as the constitutional secretary of the commission, must report the deadlock to the court "promptly." He must also send along a "petition for entry of such further mandatory order as the court may, at the time, choose to enter pursuant to its board powers as on mandamus to a state officer."

A spokesman for Hare said Sunday he had "no idea" what action—if any—Hare would recommend. The court is scheduled to meet in Lansing for its regular monthly conference this week and could conceivably issue a further order to the commission if it chooses.

The bitter end came in the latest struggle by the eight-man bipartisan commission to reapportion the state near midnight

Friday after a total of 22 roll call votes.

On the tally sheets, it came after the four Democratic commissioners refused to accept a final Republican offer to keep 142 of the present 148 Democratic-drawn district intact, changing only six Senate district lines; and then when only three votes were cast in favor of an almost status-quo Democratic plan.

But in reality it had come the day before when Republicans flatly refused to vote for any Senate plan that tied Saginaw and Bay City into one district; and Democrats refused to back one that did not.

TERRY REYNOLDS makes good use of the glare ice on South Lagoon in Ludington Park on New Year's Day to skim over the ice sheet in his ice yacht. There was a hurry to get ice yachts on the ice, but the snow came on Sunday to make it a very brief opener for the season. (Daily Press Photo)

SUNDAY BROUGHT the first heavy snowfall of the winter to the Escanaba area with about 4 inches of damp snow on the ground. Here's the winter wonderland in the gardens of the House of Ludington today after a Green Christmas. (Daily Press Photo)

Area Snowfall Arrives With Cold New Year

The brave new year rang itself in with a weekend marked by sunshine on Saturday and a snowstorm on Sunday — the first snowfall of any depth in the Escanaba area this season. About five inches of snow accumulated in the area beginning Sunday afternoon and continuing throughout Sunday night. Plows were called out on Escanaba streets for the first time and the slippery conditions added to driving hazards. At 10 a.m. today the temperature in Escanaba was 20 degrees. The low last night was 19 degrees after a high of 33 on Sunday. The forecast is for clearing and cold tonight with a low near 10. Tuesday will be cloudy and little warmer, while the outlook for Wednesday is cloudy and cold, the Weather Bureau reports.

It was a green New Year's in Escanaba and before the storm arrived there was a flurry of summertime sports mixed in with iceboating on the bay.

Tennis players Stan St. Louis and John Vader played at the Ludington Park court, while iceboaters enjoyed their sport a short distance away.

There were 10 traffic accidents in Escanaba over the weekend and four persons suffered minor injuries.

Nancy Schermer, 17, of Schaffer, suffered a laceration of the head in an accident at 4:27 p.m. Saturday at 14th and Ludington Sts. She was a passenger in a car driven by Katherine Thompson of 324 S. 9th St.

The other car was driven by William E. Peterson, 21, of 1112 5th Ave. S., who suffered an injured arm and leg.

Another accident on Saturday was at 12th and Ludington Sts. at 11:45 p.m. when cars driven by Raymond Challer of Escanaba Rte. 1 and Elmer W. LaMarch of 920 2nd Ave. S. collided. Challer complained of pain and LaMarch suffered bruises and abrasions, police reported. Challer was ticketed for failing to yield the right of way.

Snowfall Heavy Heavy snow was reported early this morning in the western part of the U.P., with as much as 16 inches falling in some sections. The northern part of the Lower Peninsula also had at least four inches of snow in some parts.

The troublemaker is a cold front coming from the Yukon, through the northern plains states and into Michigan.

It will send snow and snow flurries into most sections of the Lower Peninsula also where temperatures will range from 12 to 34 with the coldest spots in the northern part of the Lower Peninsula.

The cold front will be put off from reaching its maximum by a high pressure center over southern Ohio which will give slightly warmer temperatures to Michigan Tuesday. But by Wednesday it will be colder again.

Holiday Ended At Berlin Wall

BERLIN (UPI)—The Berlin Wall closed down again today and families split by it did not know when they would meet again. The Christmas holiday pass period ended without a new agreement to cover visits on Easter.

There were tearful, heart-rending scenes at the Wall at midnight when the two-week Christmas pass period ended. Children wept as they embraced their parents with armed Eastern border guards looking on.

On the final day 71,006 West Berliners visited their East Berlin relatives, boosting the two-week total to 823,904.

If families separated by the wall are to be reunited again the West Berlin and Communist East German governments will have to reach a new agreement.

Such negotiations in the past were long and difficult. The prospects of concluding a new pact are said to be about 50 per cent.

Personals Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Platt and son, Danny of Arlington, Va., have returned home after spending a holiday visit with Mrs. Platt's mother, Mrs. Anna Fallmer, 324 S. 12th St., and other relatives in the area.

Isabella Farm Bureau Meets Mr. and Mrs. Ted Sundin were hosts Thursday evening to the Isabella Farm Bureau members. The business meeting was opened by Ted Sundin, chairman and minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. Helmer Nelson. Mrs. Harvey Sundin gave the women's report. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Nelson will entertain in January.

Roumell Heads Department Of Labor In State

LANSING (UPI)—Gov. George Romney today announced the appointment of Thomas Roumell as the new director of the state Department of Labor.

Roumell, 51, former director of the Michigan Employment Security Commission, currently is regional director of the National Labor Relations Board for the state in Detroit.

Roumell's appointment of Roumell as director of the newly created Labor Department ended a search of several months. Don Gordon, administrative assistant to Lt. Gov. William Milliken, had been filling the post. He replaced former Labor Director Roy Johns who resigned last fall.

The Labor Department had been the center of much criticism by Democratic legislators.

In Service Sp4 Ralph K. Johnson, who was stationed in Hawaii, called home New Year's Day and informed his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Johnson, Ford River, that he will be transferred to Viet Nam this week. He had spent part of his leave at home in December but was called back to duty during the holidays.

Briefly Told Players De Noc will hold a business meeting Tuesday at 3 p.m. at the Presbyterian West Minister Hall. Work on scenery will begin.

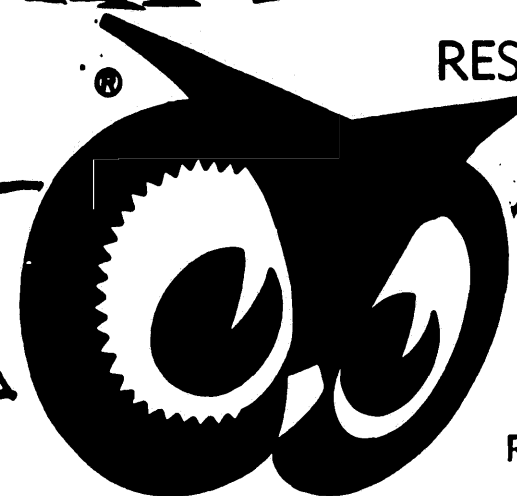

Hospital N.J. Bink of 424 S. 11th St. is a medical patient at Bellin Memorial Hospital, Green Bay. He entered the hospital on Dec. 27. His condition is reported as good today and he is expected home within a few days.

Theft of $20 from the desk in the office of the Clark Co. gas station in Escanaba was reported to police at 10:30 p.m. Dec. 31. The attendant told police that just prior to the theft a man purchased cigarettes in the station while he serviced a car.

Radio Club Asks Walkie-Talkies Avoid Channel 9

The Delta County Radio Club in association with REACT (Radio Emergency Associated Citizens' Teams) are asking cooperation in having walkie-talkie users keep off Channel 9, the REACT emergency standby channel.

Channel 9 has been blocked by walkie-talkie interference and its use in emergencies made impossible, it was explained by the Radio Club.

"In accordance with Federal Communications Commission rules walkie-talkies may be used by anyone as long as no interference occurs to duly licensed stations on the same frequencies," the Radio Club pointed out. "So we are asking stores and citizens of Delta County to please buy and sell and use walkies on one of the other 22 channels instead of Channel 9."

The Radio Club invites inquiries concerning the use of the walkies so that interference can be avoided, and they invite persons with questions to attend the Radio Club meeting to be held in Room 10, Bay de Noc Community College, at 7 p.m. Jan. 10.

MANISTIQUE

SITE WORK HAS been started by Lakehead Pipeline Co. for the new pumping station scheduled to be built at Manistique. The project is along M94, near Indian River bridge.

Manistique Made Great Strides, Growth In 1965

Like the lady trying to look her best, Manistique in the past year has done some agonizing over appearance and potential and at this year-end report the goals appear almost full scale in the community mirror.

The most noticeable change has been in the downtown business district, where First National, Manistique Maytag and Reese Furniture put on extensive remodeling programs and projects were commenced by People's store to modernize and add a new dime store.

There have been others too. The city has been a partner in the stepped-up activity and has added a new elevated water tank to provide improved water pressure. The work tore up a part of Main St., and gave the community a view of what a good street with sidewalk and curb can do for an area.

National Upturn
And the firm which brings a lot of industrial dollars to the community, the Manistique Pulp and Paper Co. added a new power plant and presently is receiving machinery for more improvements in its papermaking facilities.

Simultaneously other industrial concerns of the area have also been improving. The year saw Manistique Tool and Manufacturing Co. step out and get contracts for rotor parts of the Enstrom helicopter corporation at Menominee. Leo DeMars is building a new sawmill location and Edwin Olson constructed a building for his Timberline retail lumber yard to open next spring, on Houghton Ave.

Big Inland Line and Stone Co., has made continuing improvements and this winter will assemble the largest production shovel ever to operate at its quarries.

There have been other expansions and improvements, not the least of which were the very good tourist and hunter seasons. It is estimated the hunt this year brought more people to the area than in the entire preceding history. The hunt pointed up some problems and these will be receiving attention.

The community shared in a national economic picture which showed increases of five to seven per cent over last year and an expected 2 1/2 to 3 per cent next year.

Schools Improve
Work has been started on a new St. Francis de Sales School and various improvements have been made at the public schools. A new elementary school is to be built in the future with funds from a special levy voted for five years.

Ground has been broken for the new pumping station of Lakehead Pipeline Co.

The Schoolcraft County airport has a new paved runway which this year saw lights added and an omni navigation aid. A terminal building in the future is also planned.

The year saw a big upturn in Manistique's favored site with open winter harbor when pellet ore shipments for Ford Motor Co. began to be shipped aboard the Ann Arbor Railroad carferries.

Other efforts underway to improve the community's transportation facilities include harbor relocation, if feasible, and deepening. Funds have been appropriated by Congress for a study of it and a public hearing will be held here Jan. 19 to weigh benefits vs. costs.

Voters approved funds for a medical care facility to be built at the hospital location, and in another election landowners created a Soil Conservation district with a representative assigned here.

Downtown
Indian Lake State Park added 144 new campsites in a project just being completed on the west shore of Indian Lake. Federal forest campground improvements, which had a big spurt the year before with APW funds, continued on a lesser scale adding to recreation facilities and timber value of the forests.

Some projects are planned to help the tourist accommodations keep more here longer, with plans underway for a walleye hatchery of private interests, similar to that at Curtis, and also for summer theatre. The area will share in the state Conservation Department's new planning, which includes coho salmon stocking.

The community got a new radio station, through Dave Kelly and Ed Selleck and the weekly paper, the Pioneer Tribune in its new building now is receiving a new partner, replacing William Sonneborn.

The community had a few adventures and is sad about the closing of famed Blaney Park resort, scheduled to be sold. Highlighting business district improvement was construction of a new grocery, as nucleus of a shopping center, by Gib Norden. The store is centrally located and has a large parking area. Also new is a large building housing the industrial-agricultural equipment business of Leggett and Foye, on the east entrance to the city.

Other businesses, including Creagers, carried on extensive interior work.

An urban renewal project is being prepared for the downtown area, with off-street parking and obsolete building removal contemplated. Merchants have been seeking improved lighting in the plans also. A number have already built canopies across the fronts of their buildings, to give finer total impression and protect merchandise from sun and light damage.

The total picture was one of real growth, witnessed in bank deposit gains of more than a million, a beautiful downtown district, and more plans coming with Vilcan Leman community consultants completing planning studies.

Births

A son weighing 9 pounds 1 ounce was born Dec. 31 in Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. William Chandrais, 344 N. Cedar St. The mother was formerly Marjorie Generau.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kauffman, Rte. 1, are the parents of a daughter weighing 7 pounds 4 1/2 ounces born Dec. 30 in Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital. The mother was Alice Raul.

Hospital

Admitted to Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital were Eva Cota, 112 N. 1st; Alice Kauffman, Rte. 1; Daren Landis, Engsign; Tillie Nelson, Rte. 1; and Marjorie Chandrais, 344 N. Cedar. Discharged were Linda Edwards, Kathryn Anderson and baby, Loretta Hazen, Joe Miller, Violet Fisher, Eirnelia O'Neil and Edward LaRose.

Saban Quits Buffalo Job

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI)—Lou Saban, who led Buffalo to American Football League championships in 1964 and 1965 and earned coach of the year honors for himself in the process, resigned as head coach of the Bills Sunday.

Saban refused to give a reason for his resignation but there was widespread speculation that he would replace Tom Nugent as head coach at the University of Maryland.

"The officials at Maryland would have to answer that," Saban replied when asked if the rumor were true.

Saban said that he had been considering resigning for the last six or seven weeks, even before the Bills' championship game with the San Diego Chargers Dec. 26. He indicated that his reasons for leaving had nothing to do with the way he was treated during his three-year tenure as head coach.

Saban joined the Bills as director of player personnel in 1961 after having been fired as head coach of the Boston Patriots. In 1962 he inherited the head coaching job from Buster Ramsey. He also inherited a last place team.

In the next three years he transformed the league doormat to the most powerful football machine in the short history of the AFL. He stocked the Buffalo team with big, strong, mobile linemen, building a defensive line that averaged nearly 270 pounds and an offensive line that weighed almost as much.

For one, Ishpeming, there's a chance to step right up front in the Great Lakes race, a tight affair that could become even more exciting. The Hematites, who play at Marquette Friday night and then return home Saturday for a game with Newberry, trail three other schools by half a game.

Ishpeming dropped its opener to Manistique by a single point, but has won six straight since then.

The only all-winning Class B school, Ironwood, lays its 6-0 record on the line against a strong Wisconsin school, Superior Cathedral, Saturday, with first place in the Michigan-Wisconsin circuit at stake. Cathedral, which replaced Superior East in the conference this year, has won one less M-W game than Ironwood, but is expected to have an identical 5-0 record after hosting winless Bessemer Friday.

Several conference leaders take part in topnotch exhibitions, while others have a chance to widen their pre-holiday leads.

Sault Ste. Marie, one of the GLC leaders, hosts Escanaba, while Munising, another front-running team in that league, takes on once-beaten Marquette Bishop Baraga after appearing at home against Negaunee. Undefeated Stephenson takes time out from Great Northern play for an exhibition with Gladstone.

L'Anse, unbeaten in five games, faces Calumet, which hasn't finished ahead in six starts. Channing, finally bumped from the all-winning roster, should have an easy time in an exhibition at Amasa, while Trout Creek, still undefeated, opens up a strenuous seven-game January schedule with Porcupine Mountain tussles with Ewen and White Pine.

DeTour, possessor of the longest (8-0) undefeated streak, goes to Cedarville and then plays the first of three return matches with Canadian Soo teams it defeated in November and December.

Nearly all schools are back in action during the first week in January. Forty-eight games are scheduled, as follows:

Indians Clash

CALCUTTA (UPI)—Jaidip Mukerjee of India won the men's singles title in the Asian Lawn Tennis Championships Sunday by beating compatriot Ramanathan Krishnan, 6-4, 6-3, 6-2.

Defender Asks For Aid; Gets It For Victory

DALLAS (UPI)—Louisiana State corner back Jerry Joseph's frank admission he couldn't cope with Arkansas split end Bobby Crockett may have been a key factor in LSU's 14-7 demolition of second-ranked Arkansas' 22-game winning streak in the Cotton Bowl.

The host Razorbacks, who were eight point favorites and hadn't lost a game since Southern Methodist whipped them in the next to last game of the 1963 season, had just jumped into a fairly easy 7-0 lead in the first quarter when Joseph made his confession.

The Arkansas touchdown had come on a 19-yard Jon Brittenum-to-Crockett pass and Joseph had been the goat of the play. Crockett had eluded Joseph's cover at the sidelines around the 15 yard line and had tight-roped his way to a touchdown.

Joseph trotted dejectedly to the bench and told defensive backfield coach Bill Beale: "Coach, I can't cover Crockett man-to-man. I need some help."

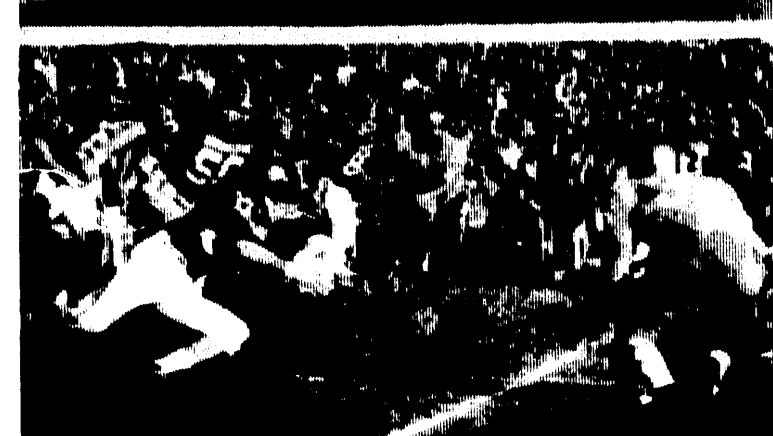

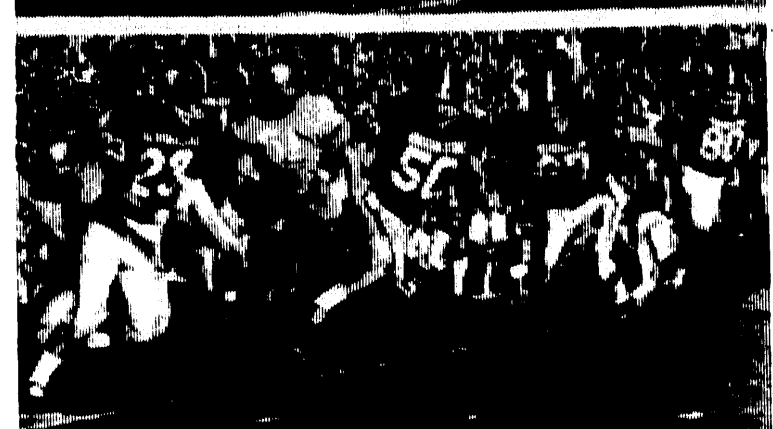

The touchdown catch was Crockett's third of the series in the 87-yard Arkansas drive. He went on to catch seven more and the total of 10 (for 129 yards) was a Cotton Bowl record.

But LSU changed its defenses after the touchdown catch and Crockett wasn't able to get away again.

"We went into a mix-em defense," Joseph recalled later, "Where I got help from the other corner back (and) late in the game we had a third man protecting us deep."

The Tigers drove 80 yards in 18 plays for their first touchdown and 11 of the plays were run at Arkansas' right tackle. LSU's Dave McCormick and Don Ellen were opening the holes and stubby tailback Joe Labruzzo was skittering three yards out.

A recovered Arkansas fumble at the Razorback 34 gave LSU another minutes later. The last five plays for the last 19 yards also went through the same hole with Labruzzo carrying every time. He scored from the one. And that was it.

Duffy Gracious After Spartans Suffer Setback

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—worse today," said Juday, who coaches for UCLA and Michigan State, gentlemen who neig-nig-nig slipped and fell on a ther alibi nor blast, seemed in pass play that would have added agreement today that it wasn't ed two points to the first Michi-what the Bruins did but the gan State touchdown.

But instead of it being 14-8 in 14-12 New Year's Day Rose favor of UCLA, it was 14-6.

There was no one to throw to," said Juday, who was hard-pressed by daredevil UCLA defense tactics much of the afternoon.

Linebacking Risk
The stunting by the UCLA linebackers—in which the Bruins took a calculated risk—paid off, particularly since the bread-and-butter MSU offensive plays didn't work.

"I can't recall when in the same game we couldn't make a yard or two with an off-tackle play, but while crediting UCLA with a fine Rose Bowl, he reminded sportswriters the unheralded get a first down on just those Bruins "played all year as a team."

Stress Passing
As in earlier victories over such teams as Southern California, the Bruins stressed passing—"we felt we had to throw because they are bigger"—and the man who did the job was, again, sophomore Gary Beban.

Beban was all he was supposed to be," said Daugherty, who refused to single out anyone for responsibility in the defeat.

He refused to be drawn into any criticism of senior Steve Juday, the quarterback who led the Spartans to a 10-0 season.

Both Beban and Juday, like their coaches, paid tribute to the opposition. "Those front linemen of theirs are really large hitters," said Beban, who spent most of the afternoon under one or more of the hefty Spartan forwards. "They've got a great middleweight title to Sweden's Vince that the reason for UCLA's win was its improve-ment over a regular season 13-1, no matter how the fight loss. "We were that much went," Visintin said Sunday.

VISINTIN RETIRES
ROME (UPI)—Bruno Visintin, 35, retired from the ring after losing his European light middleweight title to Sweden's Bo Hoegberg Saturday night.

"I had decided in advance to ment over a regular season 13-1, no matter how the fight loss. "We were that much went," Visintin said Sunday.

Packers Regain Pro Grid Crown

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) — Packers had the ball in the second half Taylor carried the ball five times and Hornung found on a 90-yard march which ended when Hornung swept for a touchdown from the 13-yard line.

The aching and crippled veterans crashed for 201 yards of the 204 the Packers gained on the ground to make ball control work as Green Bay pounded out their 23-12 triumph over the Cleveland Browns in the National Football League's championship game Sunday.

But it wasn't just their yardage that made Taylor and Hornung great. It was when and how they got it.

The Browns, champions of the NFL Eastern Division with an 11-3 season record, trailed by only one point at the half, 13-12, and that was because of a fumble on the snap from center on a Lou Groza point after touchdown try. Nothing had really been decided in the first half.

Taylor and Hornung made the decision the first time the

Wilt Is Near Six-Year Goal

By United Press International

Wilt Chamberlain's six-year plan should be completed during the middle of February, when he becomes the National Basketball Association's all-time high scorer.

Chamberlain, in his sixth NBA season, scored his 20,000th point Sunday night and only one man—Bob Pettit—has netted more. Pettit needed 11 years, and 792 games to reach his scoring mark of 20,880, while Chamberlain has played in only 499, including the Philadelphia "6ers" 133-122 victory over New York Sunday.

Chamberlain, who would break Pettit's record in February if he continued his present scoring clip, netted 50 points against the Knicks. Chamberlain and teammate Hal Greer, who scored 34, combined for 10 consecutive points after New York tied the game in the final quarter.

Rick Barry scored 43 points before his hometown Miami, Fla., fans to lead San Francisco to a 136-113 triumph over Detroit. Cincinnati blasted Baltimore 138-107 and Boston clipped Los Angeles 124-113.

Tape Measure Goal Pays Off

By United Press International

Bobby Hull's "tape measure" goal has kept the Chicago Black Hawks in first place in the National Hockey League.

Hull, the NHL's top scorer, notched his 29th goal of the campaign Sunday night by firing in a 60-foot screen shot with the game tied 1-1 at 16:16 of the final period to lead Chicago to a 3-1 victory over the Boston Bruins. The winning goal enabled the Hawks to maintain a one point margin over the Montreal Canadiens, who whipped New York 6-3.

The Canadiens skated to a 5-advantage but had to stave off a spirited New York rally in the second period when the Rangers scored three goals. Giles Tremblay, Ralph Backstrom and Claude LaRose tallied first period goals for the Canadiens and scores by Jacques Laperriere, Claude Provost and Bobby Rousseau clinched matters for Montreal.

Just One 'Sip' For Vince Lombardi

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) — The champagne cork popped. But Vince Lombardi, who had just coached his Green Bay Packers to their third National Football League championship in five years would have none of it.

"That's not for me," he said in the clamorous Packer dressing room Sunday. "It's for my players. They did it, not me."

"But coach, I've had this on ice since we came out here—I knew we couldn't lose," equipment manager "Dad" Braisher answered. "Just one sip?"

Lombardi agreed—just one sip, but then the bottle went out to the players and Lombardi turned to talking about the team that had just whipped the Cleveland Browns for the NFL crown.

"They said we didn't have an offense," he gloated. "I guess we showed 'em".

"This team has character—they showed it all year. They never counted themselves out. They won it." Regarding Paul Hornung and Jim Taylor "a lot of people counted them out, said they were past their prime," Lombardi said. "I guess that performance shows there's a little life left."

Taylor and Hornung gained 201 yards rushing between them and just about scuttled any rumors that two veteran Packer heroes will have to step aside next season to make room for Green Bay's million-dollar rookie runners—halfback Donny Anderson and fullback Jim Grabowski.

"Maybe I'll be back now," Hornung joked to reporters. Fuzzy Thurston, whose come-back at guard sparked the Packers' late surge to the Western Division title, looked over at Taylor.

"I guess we'll let him keep that No. 31 now," he said. "For a while we were thinking of giving it to Grabowski."

Proud and happy, Lombardi said, "We wanted to control the ball, and we did. You have to control the ball against the Browns if you want to beat them. And besides, we're a pretty basic team—not relying on flashy patterns and passing. That kind of team could have been hurt."

Missouri's Ground Game Prevails In Sugar Bowl

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Two football games were played in Sugar Bowl Stadium Saturday. Missouri won the ground game, 20-0, and Florida won the passing game, 18-0.

The way it went into the record book was Missouri 20, Florida 18. But had Florida elected to kick after its three touchdowns instead of trying unsuccessfully to pass for two-point conversions it might have been 21-20 in favor of the Gators.

It was no contest in the first half and the opening minutes of the third quarter. The potent Missouri ground game held sway and ran up all 20 Tiger points. The winners went on a 17-point scoring spree in the second quarter, tallying two touchdowns and a field goal. Meanwhile, the Tiger defense was holding Florida to minus 15 yards on the ground.

Missouri's scoring ended in the opening minutes of the second half. A 15-yard holding penalty from the Florida two-yard line stymied a Tiger touchdown drive and forced Missouri to go for another field goal.

Missouri Coach Dan Devine insisted this was the turning point in the game.

Florida quarterback Steve Spurrier, who rewrote Sugar Bowl passing records and helped his Gators set five team standards, got into action in the final period.

For 15 torrid minutes he waged an air war that racked up 18 points and dizzied Missouri defenders.

Spurrier's stubborn refusal to give up and his passing wizardry, picking away at Missouri's weak points, won him the most valuable player award.

Florida coach Ray Graves blamed himself for the defeat, saying it was his decision to try for two-point conversions.

But Dan Devine disagreed. He said Florida, behind 20-0, had to go for two points and he would have played it the same way.

Rookies Star In Ice Loop

By United Press International

Norm Beaudin and George Gardner, two youngsters getting their first real taste of professional hockey, have the entire American Hockey League buzzin' about the Pittsburgh Hornets.

Beaudin, a 24-year-old wing who has seen limited action in two previous AHL seasons, is currently among the league's top 10 scorers while Gardner, rookie goalkeeper, has turned in a league-leading five shut-outs.

As has been the case in several games this season, both played a major role Sunday night as the Hornets turned back Buffalo 2-1 and increased their hold on second place in the Western Division.

Beaudin, who played only 13 games last season, scored both goals in the victory with the decisive tally coming at 13:31 of the final period. Gardner turned back 34 Buffalo shots in the game, allowing only a second period score by the Bisons' Ed Van Impe.

In other league action, Dick Gamble scored twice as Rochester bombed Baltimore 6-2, Quebec ripped Cleveland 6-3 and Providence edged Springfield 2-1.

Alabama Passer Sets New Marks In Orange Bowl

MIAMI (UPI) — Joe Willie Namath, smartly turned out and mustachioed ran into the Alabama dressing room to the strains of "How the West was Won" Saturday night and let out a rebel yell.

He still yells like a rebel although the white straw hat, alligator shoes and bright blue coat decried his years in the Pennsylvania coal fields and on the Alabama campus.

"I told you," the olive-skinned pro football star shouted gleefully. "I told you last year he was the best around."

Namath pounded and hugged Alabama quarterback Steve Sloan, who had just finished leading the Crimson Tide to a 39-28 victory over Nebraska in the 32nd annual Orange Bowl Classic.

Sloan is apparently headed right into the pro football ranks after his $400,000 bonus buddy, the American Football League's top rookie.

The New York Jets, who bought Namath, are reportedly interested in Sloan now although nothing definite has been said. He was not drafted by any AFL club and was named only the 11th round of the National Football League draft, by the new Atlanta Falcons.

Sloan passed for 296 yards and two touchdowns, completing 20 of 29 attempts Saturday night to smash several Orange Bowl records, one of them 21 years old. He did this despite badly bruised ribs.

The 185-pound senior from Cleveland, Tenn., and coach Paul (Bear) Bryant gave most of the credit to Alabama's wispy but quick line which, although outweighted 20 pounds per man, gave Sloan great pass protection.

The line also gave good openings to fullback Steve Bowman, who scored two touchdowns, and halfback Leslie Kelley.

"Those little ole skinny boys sure do have big hearts," said Bryant, who has now taken Alabama to seven straight bowl games.

"I don't know what it takes to be number one," he said. "But since everyone else got beat Saturday, I guess we're it."

Nebraska End Joins Giants

DENVER (UPI) — Freeman White, Nebraska's All-American end and No. 2 pick of the Denver Broncos of the American Football League, signed with the New York Giants of the National League. Giant officials disclosed Sunday.

White, a 6-5, 220-pound defensive end, was selected in the ninth round of the NFL draft by the Giants. White is 21 and a native of Detroit.

Head Bronco Coach Mac Speedie, in Miami to try to sign White after the Orange Bowl game with Alabama, said the loss of White to the Giants was "not a matter of money." He didn't elaborate.

Reportedly, the Broncos offered White a six figure contract. Dick Kitchen, secretary of the board of directors, was also in Miami with Speedie.

The Broncos also lost their No. 1 draft choice, tackle Jerry Shay of Purdue. Shay signed with the Minnesota Vikings, also of the NFL.

Despite the loss of White and Shay, Denver has signed eight of its draftees, five free agents and three futures. Four draftees are yet unsigned.

new leader of the Dodge Rebellion

Tired of looking at dream cars you can't buy? The cars you see at the Auto Show and never see again? Well, then, do something about it. See the one you can buy, right now, today, at your Dodge dealer's. It's Charger, a full-sized, fastback action car that's all primed up and ready to go. With V8 power. Bucket seats, fore and aft. Full-length console. Disappearing headlights that disappear without a trace. Rear seats that quickly convert into a spacious cargo compartment. Just pop the rear buckets down and watch the cargo space go up. That's Charger—breathtaking new leader of the Dodge Rebellion. Until you've seen it, you haven't seen everything from Dodge for '66. Charger, a brawny, powerful dream car that made it—all the way to your Dodge dealer's.

GLADSTONE

Mrs. Ronald Carlson (Ridings Studio)

Marcia Skellenger Wed To Ron Carlson

Miss Marcia Skellenger and Ronald Carlson, both of Ann Arbor, exchanged nuptial vows in a beautifully appointed post-Christmas wedding Tuesday evening at First Lutheran Church in Gladstone.

The Rev. Rouben Carlson officiated at the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Byron Skellenger, 13-12 Wisconsin Ave., and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Carlson, of Chicago.

Mrs. Michael Craven was the organist and Robert Skellenger and Paul Sjoquist served as acolytes. Miss Rianne Strom of Lily Lake, Ill., was soloist.

Floor length gowns of red velvet with bell shaped sleeves were worn by the bride and attendants. Mrs. Paul Tesdahl, the former Charlyn Hoffos, of Minneapolis, was matron of honor, and Miss Sally Jacobson, of Dearfield, Mrs. Steve Land, of Highland Park, and Miss Cynthia Ridings, of Milwaukee, were bridesmaids.

They carried white muffs with sprigs of holly and crowns of holly formed their headpieces.

A reception was held in the church Fellowship Hall following the service and Mrs. John Carlson, sister of the bride, and Sandy Baum, cousin of the bride, poured coffee, and Mrs. Roger Sabota, of Wausau, served punch. Mrs. Larry Carlson, of Milwaukee, and Mrs. John Foster, of Green Bay, served the wedding cake. Miss Alice Smith was in charge of the guest book.

When the bridal couple return from a ski trip to Canada they will be at home at 1020 Arfordale, Ann Arbor, where Mrs. Carlson is completing work on her Masters Degree in social work, and Mr. Carlson is a freshman in the University of Michigan Dental School. Both are graduates of Augustana College.

Mrs. Wilbee, 54, Of Rapid River, Dies Saturday

Mrs. Walter (Verona) Wilbee, 54, of Rapid River Whitefish area, died at 11:05 a.m. Saturday at her home. She had been ill for the past 18 months.

Mrs. Wilbee was born in Rapid River Nov. 20, 1911. She was the former Verona A. Johnson.

She attended Rapid River schools and was a member of Calvary Lutheran Church and its L.C.A.

Survivors include her husband, Walter; one daughter, Mrs. Howard (Kathryn) Hebert, and one son, Wesley Wilbee, both of Rapid River; three grandchildren; her mother, Mrs. Emma Johnson, and one brother, Leon Johnson, both of Michigan City, Ind.

Friends may call at the Skradski Funeral Home after 4 p.m. today. The body will be removed to the Calvary Lutheran Church at 10 a.m. Tuesday where funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. with the Rev. George A. Olson officiating. Burial will be in Rapid River Cemetery.

Ivory Crepe

Escorted to the altar on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage, the bride was wearing a floor length gown of ivory crepe, with lace inserts and an empire waist. Her headpiece was a Swedish crown given to Augustana College by a Swedish jeweler to adorn Augustana women on their wedding day. Her veil was elbow length and she carried a crescent of gardenias.

Curtis Carlson of Rockford, Ill., was best man, and Peter Garteles, of Rock Island, Ronald Lincoln of Chicago, and John Skellenger, brother of the bride, served as groomsmen. Bill Sjoquist, nephew of the bride carried the rings. Ushers were John Skellenger and Doug Sjoquist.

Reception

Mrs. Skellenger wore a pink brocade dress with white and pink accessories, and Mrs. Carlson wore a two piece grey sheer wool ensemble with matching accessories. Both mothers were presented with orchid corsages. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Peter Worth, of Escanaba, attended her granddaughter's wedding and was also presented with an orchid corsage.

Briefly Told

James Beaumont, 22, Milwaukee, was ticketed by State Police for violation of the basic speed law after his car skidded on U.S. 2 just east of Rapid River and struck two parked cars, one on each side of the road. Beaumont was not injured. Fitifiti Asuega of Grand Marais, owner of one of the cars, was ticketed for improper parking. Also ticketed Sunday were Joanne Kuchinski, Pontiac, speeding; Dennis Bowlers, Stephenson, disregarding red light; Robert Newman, 2851 Lake Shore Dr., Escanaba, violation of basic speed law.

August Mattson Post 71 of the American Legion will meet at 7:30 p.m. today at the club rooms.

New Opportunity For Farmers

Smits Predicts Game Cash Crop

By LEE SMITS

There is one popular Michigan sport that we've never seen listed among the multiple uses of outdoor resources — bird-feeding.

In hundreds of backyards, feeding stations are now in operation. It is a spectator sport, joined in by everybody from grandpa to the cat. The glow of righteousness generated by bird-feeding probably is not justified. The birds would be as well off without it. But — and let this be borne firmly in mind — once you start feeding birds in winter, keep it up. Your boarders are dependent on your care.

In the heart of an industrial city you will have English sparrows, bluejays, starlings with a bonus pair of cardinals, and that's about all. Just outside the inner city you can expect a procession of visitors that will keep you reaching for binoculars and bird-guide. In addition to those you can readily identify — such as mourning doves that didn't go south — you're pretty sure to spot birds in eclipse plumage that are too much for an amateur. You might see a boreal chickadee, a Bewick's wren, a purple finch. In spring and fall the amateur bird-watcher, even in the inner city, is due for a confusing experience. Migrating flocks of unusual birds — warblers, sparrows, thrushes — pop into city yards, and abruptly depart.

There are spectacular visitors that cause bird-watchers to make excited telephone calls. When evening grosbeaks arrive, it's news! According to a 10-year survey report published by Cranbrook Institute there were only two winters when evening grosbeaks weren't sighted in the Detroit area.

A big town has bird species that have become established within recent decades, since the predatory youngster with a 22 or airgun has been barred within city limits. Crows frequent neighborhoods in the inner city and are credited with helping to keep city pigeons under control by raiding their nests.

Sparrow hawks are frequently sighted. Screech owls occasionally nest in city backyards. The nesting owls are quick to attack an intruder and the police are called on now and then to come to the rescue of people who are terrified of the little owls.

There are ducks that go no further south than the Detroit River. A flock of mallards keeps the Detroit Yacht Club lagoon free of ice. When a car stops, the mallards scramble up the bank to be fed. A flock of up to 200 bluebills hangs out at the foot of Third Street in Detroit. Other Michigan towns, such as Lowell and Traverse City, are hosts to wintering wildfowl. Sizeable flocks of mute swan are permanent residents of localities in the northwest section of the Lower Peninsula.

The winter of 1964-65 had special interest for a casual bird-watcher when a hen quail showed up in a parking lot one block from the intersection of Woodward and Jefferson in Detroit. She quickly learned to come when the car trunk was opened and a tin can was dipped into a sack of scratch feed. How she got into the vortex of a city and what happened to her as spring approached are unsolved mysteries.

Our Michigan quail is a controversial bird. As bobwhite, he adds a poetic note to the summer countryside. That was why

Cost Of Living Moves Up Again

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The cost of living rose two tenths of 1 per cent in November, the Labor Department reported.

Prices for virtually all goods and services moved up to boost the cost of living to 110.6 per cent of the 1957-59 base period.

This meant that a dollar was worth only 90 cents by 1957-59 standards.

A Labor Department spokesman said the cost of living for this year is expected to be nearly 2 per cent above 1964 — the largest annual increase since 1958.

An exception to the rising trend in November was the cost of food, which remained unchanged. Increases in fresh vegetable prices were offset by decreases in the price of fresh fruits and meats.

Among the increases were: one per cent for new cars, three-tenths of one per cent for apparel, two-tenths of one per cent for housing and three-tenths of one per cent for medical care.

The over-all November figure was 1.7 per cent above November 1964. Most of the increase during the year was attributed to services and food.

bobwhite was rated as a songbird, entitled to year-around protection. Last fall limited shooting was legalized, largely through the efforts of the Southern Michigan Quail Association, of which George Blair of Jackson is president.

Results were meager. The main factor in quail management is the farmer. Farmers in the southern counties let it be known that whereas pheasant hunters would be welcome on their lands, quail hunters — NO!

So there was a brief squeeze-in season on quail, after pheasant season. Another reason for poor shooting was that Michigan has very few quail dogs. A bird dog accustomed to pheasant is confused by quail.

Now to repeat a favorite prediction. One of these days farmers will raise game as an easy cash crop. With very little management in way of food and cover plantings Michigan can have a fair supply of quail for annual harvesting. There may be bird-dog pups now being weaned that will be taught to handle quail.

Williams Won't Be Candidate, Staebler Says

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — Democratic National Committeeman Neil Staebler said Thursday former Gov. G. Mennen Williams "undoubtedly will not run for governor" next year.

Staebler, who served as state Democratic chairman under the former six-term governor, said in an interview he recently talked to Williams and felt certain the former chief executive would not try for the office again.

Staebler refused, however, to rule out a possible Senate try for Williams. He said potential gubernatorial candidates include Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh, State Democratic Chairman Zoltan Ferency and Rep. John Mackie.

DAILY NEWSPAPERS are a GROWTH BUSINESS

It takes more people to publish today's newspapers

Any growing business needs more people... Newspapers are one of the fastest growing businesses in the U.S. today!

An average of 20,000 men and women now enter America's burgeoning labor force each week. From 1947 through 1963 the nation's economy absorbed 11 million additional workers. Total employment increased 19% in 16 years.
